Media Alert:

Mrs. Harker's Tea at Peachfield

Who: The National Society of the Colonial Dames of America in the State of NJ will be hosting the event; and tea enthusiast Linda Boyd will be heading up this year's presentation topic.

What: The NJ Dames will be hosting their Mrs. Harker's Tea. The theme this year will be reminiscent of a 1930's-era tea; complete with vintage linens and china. Boyd will be heading up a discussion on teaspoon collecting and showcasing the Dames' antique assortment of silver spoons. Guests have been encouraged to bring their favorite pieces with them.

Why: The springtime tea is an annual NJ Dames tradition that honors the preservation work of former Peachfield mistress Miriam Harker.

When: Sunday afternoon, April 27. The tea starts at 2:00.

Where: Peachfield at 180 Burrs Road in Westampton, NJ 08060.
